

August 2017

90

Points

2015

"The 2015 Nora Da Neve feels quite different from other Albariños, with notes of sweet spices, smoke and orange peel, most probably from being fermented and aged in oak barrels for six months. The fruit is yellow rather than white and the texture is creamy and soft, with integrated acidity and focused, clean flavors."

August 2017

90

Points

2015

"The 2015 Nora Da Neve feels quite different from other Albariños, with notes of sweet spices, smoke and orange peel, most probably from being fermented and aged in oak barrels for six months. The fruit is yellow rather than white and the texture is creamy and soft, with integrated acidity and focused, clean flavors."

August 2017

90

Points

2015

"The 2015 Nora Da Neve feels quite different from other Albariños, with notes of sweet spices, smoke and orange peel, most probably from being fermented and aged in oak barrels for six months. The fruit is yellow rather than white and the texture is creamy and soft, with integrated acidity and focused, clean flavors."

August 2017

90

Points

2015

"The 2015 Nora Da Neve feels quite different from other Albariños, with notes of sweet spices, smoke and orange peel, most probably from being fermented and aged in oak barrels for six months. The fruit is yellow rather than white and the texture is creamy and soft, with integrated acidity and focused, clean flavors."

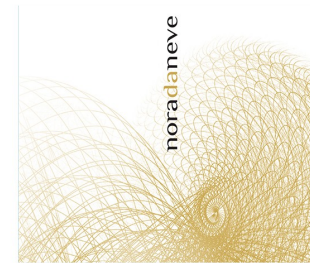

August 2017

90

Points

2015

"The 2015 Nora Da Neve feels quite different from other Albariños, with notes of sweet spices, smoke and orange peel, most probably from being fermented and aged in oak barrels for six months. The fruit is yellow rather than white and the texture is creamy and soft, with integrated acidity and focused, clean flavors."

August 2017

90

Points

2015

"The 2015 Nora Da Neve feels quite different from other Albariños, with notes of sweet spices, smoke and orange peel, most probably from being fermented and aged in oak barrels for six months. The fruit is yellow rather than white and the texture is creamy and soft, with integrated acidity and focused, clean flavors."

